

THE SUN

The sun is the main source of energy for life on the planet.

Energy enters the Muir web as plants absorb the sun's ultra violet rays through photosynthesis.

The energy is transferred through the Muir web as plants are eaten by herbivores and herbivores are eaten by carnivores.