

BEAVER
Castor canadensis

Habitat

They build dams on streams and river wetlands.
The beaver den is in the middle of the pond behind the dam.

Food

They eat water lilies and trees, such as alder, beech, maple, willow, aspen, and birch.

Predators

They are the prey of the grey wolf, red fox, and bobcat.

Reproduction

They care for their young in their dens.

Where are they today?

Recently, a beaver was spotted in the Bronx River. They can be found in other parts of New York State.